SOUVENIRS FOR VISITORS. BRONCHOS TO BE "BUSTED." HIS MASTER GETS HIM OUT. FRANCOIS MAY MAKE FLIGHT.

Mrs. Daniel Manning and Lady Managers Attend by Special Request-Some Exquisite Creations.

Floral arrangements were the features yesterday at the National Flower Show at the World's Fir and a large number of well-known St. Louis women from society circles were in attendance, evidently with the purpose of getting new ideas for ome flower decorations. The ideas were there to be profited by, for the di-play was dazzling and a perfect riot of color. There were floral baskets, baskets of roses, bride conquets and table settings in tasteful arrangement, pronounced by several expert floral designers to be the most artistic ever attempted in this country.

The bride's bouquet attracted considerable attention, not only from the young women, but-from everyone present, for the world loves a lover, and is interested in a bride; hence in all things pertaining to a bride. But the bride's bouquets we e worthy of all the interest bestowed on them. They were exqusite creations, and many a maiden looked at them with longing, hoping that she might have just such expisite creations to carry when she would be led to the altar.

"If I was a bride," said a man, who had no poetry in his soul, "I would rather carry a brick than one of them things," as he pointed his index finger toward the

An exquisite creation, half round, of lilles of the valley, maiden-hair ferns and asparagus springs, designed by Fred H. Rowe of Johet, his, was awarded to a half-round creation of lilles of the valley and white orchids and maiden-half ferns, designed by William L. Rock of Kansas City, Mo. The third prize was received by Fred C. Weber of St. Louis for a round shower bouquet of lilles of the valley and maiden-half ferns, and white baby ribbon bows.

LAST DAY OF SHOW. The violet display attracted much at The modest violet is always a favorite with flower lovers. There were only two entries in this exhibit, those of only two entries in this exhibit, those of ill Cross. Grand Rapids. Mich., and William Winter of Kirkwood.

Mr. Cross received the first prize. His exhibit consisted of several well-known varieties, the Prince of Wales, a large double violet of deep hue: Marie Louise, a double violet, light in color, but very fragrant; the Dorsett, a large single variety, deep color and possessed of a powerful odor, and the Lady Hugh Campbell, a superb violet of good habits. Mr. Cross also exhibited several fine vases of the Swanley White, a very old variety, but one that is seldon in cultivation.

Mr. Winter's exhibit was composed of the California violet, which is one of the best violets on the market. The flowers exhibited ware fine specimens, fragrang and perfect in color and form. Mr. Winter respived the second prize.

An artistic basket of magnificent Mine. Chatenay roses, designed by Fred C. Weber of St. Louis, was awarded the first prize for the best basket of roses. The designer brought out the many advantages of the Mme. Chatenay for table decorations. The second prize was awarded to W. L. Rock of Kansas City for a basket of Sunrise roses. While the Sunrise is rich in color, and a superb rose for evening decorations, its buds are a trifle small for decorative purposes.

In the basket of Lawson carnations, the ing decorations, its buds are a trifle small for decorative purposes.

In the basket of Lawson carnations, the designer, William L. Rock, displayed with skill the value of the carnation as a decorative flower. Owing to the artistic arrangement, the Lawson won first prize over the new favorite, the "Fiancee," which filled a basket designed by the Carnation Company of Chicago, and which was awarded the second prize.

WILD WEST SHOW AT WORLD'S FAIR

in Connection With the Cattle Exhibit.

Plainsmen Will Display Their Tricks in Roping Steers and Breaking Ponies in the Live-Stock Forum:

A free Wild West Show, with bronch busting, trick and fancy roping, tying of cattle, and all accompaniments of exhibitions of this kind, will close the World's Fair Southern Breeding and Range Cattle

The exhibition will be given in the Live-Stock Forum, and will begin at 1 o'clock Fifty of the most noted cowboys and Wild West performers in the country will participate, and the performance will be un-Erothers, known the world over as daring riders and expert lasso artists. They will be assisted by Miss Lucille Mulhall, the champion woman rider and roper of the world; Jackson brothers of Chadron, Neb.; Charley Thompson of Texas, Miss Mabel Good of Texas, Sam Scov.lle of Cheyenne, Wyo.; J. P. Snell of Hamilton, Tex.; William Rogers of Clearmont, Okia.; Low Young of Texas and others who are known the country over.

The Live-Stock Forum has been specially prepared for the big performance. To guard against the escape of the wild range cattle which will be used in the exhibition the gates to the Live-Stock Forum have been built higher and otherwise made secure. Lhe seats of the amphitheater are sufficiently high to prevent the possibility of the wild steers leaping the 6-foot barrier that is between the ground floor of the Forum and the Amphitheater.

These steers were secured from Texas

of the wild steers leaping the 6-foot barrier that is between the ground floor of the Forum and the Amphitheater.

These steers were secured from Texas and Indian Territory. The ponies to be used in the broncho-busting were specially brought from Wyoming, Texas. Oktahoma and the Indian Territory, and many of them have never had a saddle on their backs. These will be roped in the arena, and the cowboy experts will show how bronchos are "busted" on the range,

The performance will consist of twelve acts. A quadrille of eight horsemen in daring syclutions, a chase for a bride, a tournament in which the most expert of the riders will take part, a quarre of a mile race, exhibitions of how the "pony express" before the advent of the railroad carried the mail to the West; trick riding by Charley Thompson, George Alser, Slim Higley of Wyoming, John France of Hidalgo, I. T.; Knox Simmons of the Indian Territory, and by Charley Mulhall of Oklahoma, will be some of the acts. Miss Lucille Mulhall, besides giving exhibitions of riding, will exhibit her famous high-school horse, "Governor."

The Gabriel Brothers will also appear in acts that have made them famous as Wild West show attractions. These brothers are noted, among other things, for the 2,500-mile ride against time, which they made from Sheridan, Wy., to Chicago, in the last Sloux war, Jim, the elder, performed song Emperous work for General Miles, can sing I bepatches through the hostile Sloux country.

Governor Francis, members of the World's Fair Directory, the Texas Commission and World's Fair officials will attend. After the Wild West exhibition a review of the cattle that were shown in the Söuthern Breeding and Range Cattle Show will take place in the Forum.

HIGH SCHOOL GREEK CLASS VISITS THE FAIR.

Two classes in Greek from the Central High School of St. Louis visited the Exposition in a body vesterday, under the guldance of their teacher, Miss Elizabeth H. Carr. About thirty pupils were in the party. Special attention was paid to those features of the Exposition bearing on the work of the class. Considerable time was spent in the Vatican exhibit in the Anthropology building, and an extended study of the Greek and Roman antique bronzes in the Italian National Pavillon.

MRS. LYON CHAIRMAN OF TRADES' SCHOOL COMMITTEE

for State President of Woman's Clubs.

Though defeated for the office she sought, president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, the result of the annual meeting of that organization in Syracuse was, in another sense, a victory for Mrs. Dore Lyon, who returned yesterday to her post of duty as hostess of the State pavillon at the World's Fair. The Federation of Clubs gave its indorsement to the trades' school project, and Lyon was made chairman of the

Mrs. Lyon was made chairman of the committee.

The trades' school proposition was the main issue in the campaign between Mrs. Lyon and her successful opponent, Mrs. Carpenter, and it was the first time a political issue was injected into a contest for office in a federation of women's clubs. By its indorsement of the trades' school for girls, it now becomes more of a certainty than ever before, and probably will be brought to a successful issue at the next meeting of the Federation.

Mrs. Lyon stated that she is not at all discouraged as far as the project is concerned, and that her enthusiasm has only been increased.

TO-DAY'S MUSIC PROGRAMME AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Franz von Blon and the Berlin Band will give another of their popular concerts in Festival Hall at 7:30 p. m. to-day. The repetition of any programme by this band is superfluous, since the high standard of the organization and anything that it does has long since been acknowledged by the public. Herr von Blon's selections are always full of the highest discornment, so that the mere announcement of the band's appearance is sufficient to assure a large audience.

The only organ recital of the day is that given at 11:30 a. m. by G. M. Chadwick of Chicago. The programme is an unusually inviting quantity, opening with a sonata in E flat from the works of Josef Rheinberger. A selection from Schumann, the "Pligrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser," the "Ave Maria" of Liszt and a prefude and fugue on the name of Bach, by the same composer, make up the offering. An extra music feature to-day is the appearance at 4:20 p. m. of the Concordia Seminary students' chorus of 146 male voices.

ARE GOING TO PORTLAND. Best of Fair's Exhibits to Be Seen at the Lewis and Clark.

J. P. Marshall, special Commissioner to St. Louis from the Lewis and Clark Exposition, which is to be held in Portland, Ore., next year, departs to-night for Portland on business. Mr. Marshall will return to St. Louis before the World's Fair closes. He came to St. Louis to interest the exhibitors at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in going to Portland. "I have had greater success than I anticipated," said Mr. Marshall last night. "At first there was a tendency among some of the exhibitors to hold back, but when they found that we were after only the best and were getting these rapidly all climbed into the wagon and wanted to all climbed into the wagon and wanted to go to Portland. Now, it is a question with us when we are going to begin to shut them off. We'll not have space for all, so we'll select only those of the highest type and refuse the entries of those that are undesirable."

Mr. Marshall has caused more talk about the Lewis and Clark Exposition in the four weeks he has been in St. Louis than was heard at any time before. He has adopted many unique methods of advertising, one of these being the great banner attached to the mammoth kite which flies over the main entrance to the Fair and reads, "The Next Great World's Fair and reads," The Next Great World's Fair att Portland in 1905." He is also negotiating with the World's Fair management to place electric signs above the entrance gates on the inside calling attention to the Lewis and Clark.

Francois of Paris, France, largest of the aerial craft at the Exposition, has not made its first dight as yet. Everything is ready for the ascension and should the weather be favorable M Francois will make his trial trip about 2 p. m.

Football enthusiasts are predicting a close same to-day. The University of Kansas team lays claim to being one of the best in the State university c. ass, and Washington's defeat of the University of Missouri last Saturous gives that eleven a high standing.

The Exposition Company has arranged a great free performance for this aiternoon. It will be in the form of a typical wid west show and the partic pains will include such men and women as Gaoriel Bros. of Wyoming, champion long-distance riders of the world; Jackson Bros. of Chadron, Neb., who will cillustrate the trials and hardahips of the men who carried the United States mail across the condinent before the railrouis were built. Miss Lucille Mulhail of Oklahoma, and Miss Mabel Good of Texas, in fancy and trick riding, roping, bronche busting and other pastimes. The cattle will be of the wild range type, and the horses will be the unbroken bronches of the plains.

Irwin Eveleth Hassell, who is to give a plano recital in Festivai Hall in the afternoon, is a pupil of the great Barth of Berlin, and his playing of the most difficult classics has been highly commended wherever he has appeared. His programme will include the most popular classics. The organ recital at 11:30 a. m., given by G. M. Chadwick of the Union. programme will include the most popular classies. The organ recital at 11:30 a. m., given by G. M. The Concordia Students' Chorus, composed of 143 male voices from St. Louis, under the direction of John D. Barthel, will sing in Festival Hall at 4:39 p. m. Martin Lochner, the accompanist, will be assisted by Edward H. Rechlin, organist.

To-day is the last day of the great Flower Show and of the Southern Cartile Show. All the beautiful displays made by the Flower Show on previous days will be on view. These include the prize-winning chrysanthemums, orchids, roses, carnatitions, ferms and many other flowers. None of the beautiful flowers or plants have been removed and the display will be one of the greatest ever shown in an exhibition of this nature. The exhibits have been gathered from all parts of the country and the arrangement is excellent.

Pike Concessionaires Give Three Free Performances Daily.

The first performance by Lizette in "leaping the gap" was given yesterday afternoon at the west end of the Pike at 3:30 o'clock. "Lizette," mounted on a bicycle, rides down a steep incline fortythree feet high, up a short curve and leaps a gap twenty-eight feet wide, reaching the ground down a short incline. The descent and sudden upward curve give a momentum which enables rider and machine to clear the gap. The act is excit-ing and the during of the bicyclist was ing and the daring of the bicyclist was generously applicated.
This is the third free act furnished by the Concessionaires' Association for the entertainment of the visitors to the Pike. The others are the bigh diving of Kearney P. Speedy, and "haredevil" Kilpatrick's fide down a bigh flight of steps on a bicycle. The acts are free to the public and are given simultaneously four times daily—at 11:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m., and 5:30 p. m.

GOVERNOR DURBIN HERE.

Chief Executive of Indiana Comes to See the World's Fair. Governor and Mrs. Winfield T. Durbin of Indiana, who are here to visit the World's Fair, for the express purpose of viewing its wonders, spent the day at the Exposition yesterday. They are staying at the Monticello. Governor Durbin was here Indiana Day, Governor Durbin was here Indiana Day, but owing to the campaign and important business at home he could not remain, and announced at that time that he probably would visit the World's Fair later.

He visited Assistant Secretary A. C. Alexander at the Indiana building, called on President Francis and was cordially greeted by many prominent persons. He expressed himself as pleased with the exhibits and considers the Louisiana Purchase Exposition the greatest World's Fair in history. He does not believe it possible for it to be surpassed, and believes it has done a world of good for the commercial interests of the Middle West.

Gove. not Durbin retires from office in a short time, having served two terms, and it is understood he will be a candidate for the United States Senate, to succeed Senator Fairbanks, elected Vice President. Governor Durbin is one of the strongest men in the Republican party in Indiana, and while he has not announced his candidacy for the United States Senate, his friends are urging him to do so, and he probably will enter the race.
